DETAILED ACTION

1. This Action is in regards to the Amendment and Response received 10 November 2005.
2. The application has been examined. Claims 1-12 are pending. The objections and rejections cited are as stated below:

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 10 November 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ashby et al. (Ashby), EP 043895 in view of Tagi, U.S. Patent NO. 6,473,790.
6. Regarding claim 1, Ashby discloses a data distribution system comprising: a plurality of data files structured individually by dividing distributed data by function [see Ashby, section 0002-0004]; wherein each of the data files is classified by type of each data file and is further classified by function of each data file [see Ashby, sections 0074-0075]; and data distribution means for selecting any data files from among the plurality of data files, combining the selected data files into distributed data, and distributing the distributed data [see Ashby, sections 0054-55]. However, Ashby does not explicitly disclose the term distribution server.

Art Unit: 2143

7. In the same field of endeavor, Tagi discloses (e.g., network system for serving information to mobile terminal apparatus). Tagi discloses a distribution server [see Tagi, abstract, Col. 1, lines 6-9, Col. 2, lines 57-67, Col. 3, lines 1-63].

8. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the networking art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated Tagi's teachings of a network system for serving information to mobile terminal apparatus with the teachings of Ashby, for the purpose of providing information to a user which will help the user's activities when he/she goes to an unfamiliar building or facility [see Tagi, Col. 1, lines 24-31]. By this rationale claim 1 is rejected.

9. Regarding claim 2, Ashby-Tagi discloses wherein the data distribution means responds to a formation condition set at a terminal to receive data distribution from said data distribution server and selects data files fitted for the formation condition from among the plurality of data files [see Ashby, sections 005-0057]. By this rationale claim 2 is rejected.

10. Regarding claim 3, Ashby-Tagi discloses wherein identification codes by function are assigned to the plurality of data files and any desired identification code is specified at the terminal, whereby the formation condition of the distributed data is set [see Ashby, sections 0060]. By this rationale claim 3 is rejected.

11. Regarding claim 4, Ashby-Tagi discloses wherein the data files are files of data by function into which data concerning a map is divided by navigation function [see Ashby, sections 0053-0057]. By this rationale claim 4 is rejected.

Art Unit: 2143

12. Regarding claim 5, Ashby-Tagi discloses wherein a required function for navigation is specified at a navigation system of a terminal to set the formation condition of the distributed data [see Ashby, sections 0054-0058]. By this rationale claim 5 is rejected.

13. Regarding claim 6, Ashby-Tagi discloses wherein the data file is at least one of road data, background data, comment data, guidance data, and route calculation data [see Ashby, abstract]. By this rationale claim 6 is rejected.

14. Regarding claim 7, Ashby-Tagi discloses wherein the data files are files of data by function of at least a display function, a locating function, a search function, and a route calculation function [see Ashby, sections 0039]. By this rationale claim 7 is rejected.

15. Regarding claims 8-12, the limitations of these claims are substantially the same as that of claims 1-7 and thus are rejected utilizing the same rationale for rejecting claims 8-12 above.

Conclusion

16. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
